Mrs. William Boehme Is Laid To Rest

Funeral services for Mrs. W. Boehme who passed away last Friday, night after a long and painful illness, were held in the Second Ward Church Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. with Bishop James H. Walker in charge. Jos. McLean conducted the choir and Mrs. Paul Dahl was at the organ.

Hymns by the choir were: "The Lord is My Shepherd," "Nearer My God to Thee" and "God be With You Till We Meet Again." Miss Dorothy Nurse sang "I Have Read of a Beautiful City" the choir joining in the chorus.

Speakers were Mrs. George Fromm, Elders W. A. Heninger, James S. Anderson and Bishop Jas. H. Walker, all of whom spoke of the patience of deceased in her suffering and her unbounded faith in the Gospel of Christ and its ordinances, the love of which caused her to leave her native land and join the body of the Church in Zion. All the speakers spoke of the Resurrection and the promise we have of life hereafter because of the saving ordinances of the Gospel.

Elder John F. Salmon offered the invocation and Elder Moses Fromm pronounced the benediction. A large cortege followed the hearse to the cemetery where interment was made with Christensen Bros. in charge.

ELECTIONS ON MONDAY

Nomination day on Monday was rather quiet, the cold day probably accounting for a part of this.

Councilmen Melvin T. King and William Jensen were returned for another three year term by acclamation.

Former Mayor P. W. Cope and Mayor S. I. May were nominated to contest the election for Mayor of the town.

For the School Board Chris. F. Tollestrup, D. G. Selman and R. J. Farnett were nominated. The first two are seeking reelection, the latter being newly named.

Balloting will take place next Monday at the Town Hall from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ross and Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Halvorson of Warner were Sunday visitors at the Kimball Anderson home while attending Conference here.

Quarterly Conference Convenes Here

The Quarterly Conference of the Taylor Stake of Zion convened Saturday evening at 7:30 p.m. with Stake Pres. T. Geo. Wood conducting the meeting, and Elder Melvin J. Ballard of the Council of the Twelve representing the General Authorities of the Church.

Elder Wm. Redd reported on the work of the Aaronic Priesthood Committee of the Stake, and Pres. Wood spoke on the Adult Annuity Priesthood and what a field of labor and what a question this group of 234 men in the Stake presented to the rest of the body of Priesthood. Heber F. Allen of the Stake Presidency spoke of our Monthly Stake Priesthood meeting and the way the various committees and auxiliaries get together for their monthly meeting. Elder Geo. Thompson reported on the work of the Stake Missionaries and told that this group was very inactive and should get to work or resign. Each Melchizedic Priesthood Quorum then reported.

Elder Ballard spoke and complimented the quorums on the success of their projects and related some of the projects under way in various corners of the Church. Each quorum should have a monthly meeting, and each quorum should have a project. He thought it would be a fine thing if each quorum would try in 1939 to get one of its members rehabilitated. A social each 3 months would assist greatly in maintaining and fostering a quorum spirit.

Speaking of Stake Missionary work he thought each missionary should give 2 evenings each week, and felt we had the best mission field in the Church lying around us. He urged the use of the machines provided by the Church to tell the story of the Restoration and of the Prophet Joseph Smith. We should also use strategy in our work and if we had a group we could not quite convince then we should get a specialist to help us win the prospect like other salesmen do. Rallies preceding baptismal services he thought would be a fine thing; and the Bishops should give the missionaries one night a month, and then investigators could invite their friends to the meeting and listen to good solid gospel sermons.

Speakers at Sunday morning's meeting in Magrath were Elders E. P. Tanner, Elmer L. Spackman and Karl Schneider.

Elder Ballard spoke on Priesthood and stated that this was the thing which distinguishes us from the rest of the world. The husband and wife, share all blessings of the Priesthood, together and unless Priesthood is magnified we lose its power. Blessings cannot be obtained without effort and Priesthood cannot be held in laziness and inactivity. He urged the women to provoke their husbands to good works and said the Priesthood would reign in all the glories of eternity. He related several personal experiences in administrations and said that we should always be wise and reasonable in the things we ask for in the power of the Priesthood as these ordinances are always recognized and sometimes our requests are unwise.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON
After the singing and prayer and the presentation of Church and Stake authorities by I. B. Roberts, short talks were made by Douglas Harker, Wilson Woodger and Donald Woolley, members of Lesser Priesthood Quorums, Elder Ballard spoke on the Aaronic Priesthood, its duties and its necessity in the Church, and referred to the missionary labors of Elder Wilford Woodruff when he was only a Priest. The big question of the Church today was to keep our boys clean and pure and prepare them for the leadership that will be required of them in a few years. We are the most fortunate of all generations and because of the blessings we are receiving our temptations will be greater. Poverty had not shaken us, and when wealth is given us the Lord will see that we do not receive it until we are in a position to enjoy it without losing our testimony of the truth. He wants us to carry on.

Sunday evenings meeting was featured by a Scout program commemorating the anniversary of Scouting. With the breaking of the flag from the flagpole and twelve flags held by Scouts across the stand, the congregation stood and sang "O Canada."

Stake Pres. T. Geo. Wood, the first Scoutmaster of the L. D.S. Church of Troop 1 in Salt Lake City was presented with gifts from the four corners of the Stake and also by Commissioner Matkin on behalf of the District Council. Pres. Wood feelingly replied and expressed the joy he had always experienced in Boy Scout work.

The Scout Promise and Law was then repeated by a group of boys, and then Commissioner Matkin presented three Magrath boys with their King's Scout badges, and stated that this made 26 King's Scouts in this district now, and he threw this out as a challenge to any other district in Alberta to better. He spoke of his trip to Salt and these boys and stated that they were a fine bunch of Boy Scouts.

Elder Ballard spoke of the big part the Church had and was now playing in Scouting and stated that 2 out of 4 boys in the 12th region in the United States where he works is now enrolled and they were after the 3rd out of every four boys. The 3rd out of every four boys. The have is to walk with a good man. He cited instances in history of how the wrong start had made criminals out of boys who otherwise may have been respected citizens and urged the fathers to take time to be friends with their boys. Speaking of the triumph of right over wrong, he mentioned the untimely and disappointing end of Stephen A. Douglas, Lilburn W. Boggs and other men who had opposed the rise of the Latter-Day work and of the honor that had come to General Doniphan, Abraham Lincoln and others who had championed the right. In the experience of the past, he said, "Any man who has the courage to lift his hand against the work is either a fool or an ignoramus."

In closing he said "I promise you in the name of the Lord, if you pay your tithes and offerings, keep yourselves clean and be true, you will rise in power and influence amongst your acquaintances." He prayed for timely rains and for prosperity for the people.

The Stake Choir directed by Wm. C. Stone rendered several splendid selections and Frank Taylor and Co. sang "When You Come to the End of a Boy Scout Day." While the flags were again held across the stage the congregation stood and sang The National Anthem.

The epidemic of colds seems to have lifted somewhat with the colder weather, but there is still a steady stream of patients filing to the Doctor's office to finish the inoculations they commenced during the mild weather which has prevailed.

CHECK YOUR BINS!!

Farmers would be playing a great deal safer if they would check their grain bins every few days for shortages.

Police are receiving reports of stolen grain, sometimes almost a month, after the theft, and of course the trail is so cold then there is little to work on.

From reports it seems to be pretty well organized and the police are sure that if reports are made at once, that the matter can soon be cleaned up.

In a regular league fixture at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, the Idlers suffered their second defeat. Magrath showed superiority in team work and in passing, and they really proved that they have a right to be in the Senior league. The Idlers, after fighting thru the first half as hard as Magrath ever did, proved to be quite disorganized and hasty in the final canto.

The play was rough from the outset, and the score stayed quite even. Then before the half Magrath forged ahead to lead by 17 to 10. Idlers then put on a burst of speed, and three fast baskets scored by the Walker brothers and Wood ended the half 17-16 in the Garden City quint's favor.

Magrath came back after the rest period with a fast passing attack that left the Idlers helpless. When they did get the ball, a Magrath player loomed up wherever they passed. They were extremely unlucky on their shots, and the visitors got most of the rebounds. The game ended with Magrath out in the lead 46 to 23.

Individual scores were:

MAGRATH: Bourne 14, L. Harker 3, R. Harker 8, Turner 3, Hamilton 9, Blumel 9, Karen, Merkley, Toomer. Total 46.
IDLERS: Schow 3, H. Walker 2, F. Walker 5, Wood 2, Depew 5, R. Woolley 3, P. Woolley 3, Hutchinson, Piegrass. Total 23.

Referee Rolfson and Bennett called 15 fouls on the Idlers, and 13 on Magrath. The Idlers scored 7 of their foul heaves, and the visitors scored 10. — R.P.E.

NEWS NOTES

Earl P. Tanner was elected by acclamation for another two year term at the nominations in Magrath on Monday.

Washington need look no farther for that coming war. By each rude bridge that arches the New England flood an embattled farmer stands, for state's rights.

The first of the women patients at the local mental hospital arrived here Monday evening by Greyhound bus, these being 35 in number. According to reports from the institution no more will be brought in for a week or two as there is considerable work yet to be done around the place and these patients will help in this labor.

Elder J. F. Price of Salt Lake City, L.D.S. Church Architect, was here Monday and Tuesday conferring with Stake and 1st Ward officials, and we understand that everything is now arranged and in readiness to commence construction just as soon as the needed funds are in the hands of the local officials. The work of dismantling the present Stake House will begin in a week or so.

Honors came to F. D. Merrill this week. He won the District Managers' cup for the largest sale of Life Insurance. The General Manager's cup was won by the Calgary district, and Don won this for the greatest sale of insurance in the Calgary district. Congratulations Don.

Elder E. A. Price was sustained as second counselor to Bishop J. Ross Salmon in the Picture Butte Bishopric at a Ward conference there recently. Congratulations to Eddie.

Chapter Eight

"Examples lead us, and we likely see;
Such as the Prince is, will his people be."

—Herrick.

In the fall of 1913, Prince Albert received an appointment on the Collingwood, which was at that time the flagship of the first battle squadron of Sir Stanley Colville, who subsequently became a well-known admiral of the fleet, and Captain James Ley was in actual command of the ship. He entered the service of the Collingwood at Remyth in September, and sailed away as a midshipman for a Mediterranean cruise which will never be forgotten by the present King because while the squadron was carrying out manoeuvres in Egyptian waters he had the opportunity to stay for a short time with the great British soldier, Lord Kitchener, who is said to have made a deep impression on the young Prince.

He was with the Fleet when exercises took place at Portsmouth, Lamlash, Devonport and other well-known training locations. It is recorded that he followed the same enviable policy whereby there was absolutely no distinction between the son of the King and the members of the ship from the highest officer in command of the battle squadron to the lowly recruit who had just come on board. He took his place in the gun-room as any other shipman and it is stated that he preferred the name which was invented for him by his friends, namely, "Mr. Johnston." It was only on formal occasions that he was called Prince Albert, with everyone trying to carry out the Prince's wish that nothing should be said or done which would create the impression in the gun-room or wardroom that he was not the equal of the other men in the ship's service. He followed the same routine of the other men. He would before six in the morning; he would prepare his own cocoa; then he would take a shower; he would go through the usual morning drill; he would eat his breakfast with his own company; he would do all other duties in the course of the day, even working in the dark collier when coaling the ship was necessary, since oil burning boats were a rarity in those days; rushing through the final duties of the day, he would partake of the evening supper which traditionally consisted of bread and cheese, onions and beer, and then he would get into his hammock for a well-earned rest.

In July 1914, which was only a few weeks before the outbreak of the World War, he served his country as midshipman in the great naval review in Devonport and his routine on the Collingwood was the same as any other midshipman, with out any special privileges or other signs of rank as son of the reigning monarch. Perhaps the outstanding event of that time is the story which recounts a visit of the late King George the Fifth, who in the course of a formal inspection of the Collingwood, came face to face with his second son but neither father nor son greeted one another in any other manner than the usual click of the heels and salute like all other colleagues of the young midshipman, though father and son had not met one another for a long time. This incident was typical of the character of the late King George the Fifth and the present King George the Sixth.

A few weeks later, the World War broke out in all its fury. At the time of the incident on the Collingwood, war had been declared but the full extent of this international conflict had not been realized. However, Prince Albert expressed a desire to curtail his training immediately in order that he may enter the active service, but a month after the World War broke out, something happened which interfered with his plans.

A GOOD SCOUT

Every father and mother with boys of Scout age, must have been thrilled with the display on Sunday night put on by the boys and their officers, and by the outstanding stories of Scouting as related by the speakers; & must have resolved to assist their boys more fully in being A GOOD SCOUT.

When a boy makes this promise, "On my honor I promise to do my best: To do my duty to God and the King; to help other People at all times; and to Obey the Scout Law," he is really accepting a big responsibility, and all he will need to live up to this high code is a little encouragement from dad and mother. It has been our good fortune to have assisted some in Scouting, and I have yet to find a boy who is not a better boy from his association with and activity in Scout work. We are not attempting to say that every boy will make a 100 per cent Scout.

If they did, instead of 23 Kings Scouts in the Stake as reported Sunday night, we would have 223, because this badge is within the reach of all First Class Scouts. However, if a boy stays with Scouting until he obtains his first-class badge, and the proficiency badges that must go along with it, he has been in Scouting long enough to know the meaning of the Scout promise and law, and has abided by it sufficiently that it will be a damper on him in his hours of temptation for ever after.

There is no question but what Scouting could be made infinitely more effective amongst our boys if, as parents, we would ask the boys about it, encourage them in it, and ask for their interpretation, one by one of the ten laws of Scouting; after of course getting their ideas concerning the meaning of the promise. Every point of the promise and law is an aid to living in an exalted way. If we would all abide by the Scout Law; petty jealousies and hatreds, mean actions and words, low down meanly tricks would all be done away with. What a difference this would make in community life of our towns and villages where we make everybody else's business ours and gossip over the weaknesses of our neighbors and friends (?) until we quell every worthy desire for that bigger view that enters our hearts.

The Scout motto, "Do a good Turn every day" and "Be Prepared" if lived up to by every Scout would make it one of the greatest programs for love, peace and understanding that the world has ever known. What a difference in the mental outlook of everyone's life if we would go out of our way to do a good turn daily, not so much to our close friends as to those whom we have delighted in hurting? Try it.

Before many years these Boy Scouts will be taking the positions of responsibility in the Church, Government and world affairs. What an influence for good in international affairs they could have, were they to enter caucuses and conventions with the Scout Law and Promise in their hearts, so indelibly inscribed there, that unconsciously in their deliberations they would fight for and uphold the right.

W. I. MEETING

The Raymond Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Allan Thursday Feb. 9th., with the President Mrs. Frank Hall in the Chair.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada," followed by the reading of the Creed. Roll call was answered with a Valentine Thoughts. Mrs. Miller gave a two-and-a-half minute talk on "International affairs."

Ira McBride rendered a vocal solo, accompanied by his daughter Hazel. Mrs. Frank Leavitt gave a paper on Handicrafts, and Mrs. Wm. Paris read the Financial report of the past year, after which the meeting was adjourned by the singing of "God Save the King."

The door prize was won by Mrs. Ropt. Webster and a delicious luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Thos. Allan.

TOWN COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the Town Council was held Thursday night at the Town Hall and because of the cold the meeting was held in the Secretary's office.

After the minutes and cash report had been read and accepted, a delegation was heard from the Athletic Association asking for assistance in paying for the Youth Training classes being held in the Opera House. The Council voted a grant to the Association.

Councillors Jensen, McPhee and Gough reported on their recent trip to Calgary to see a road grader and tractor the Caterpillar people had for sale. No action was taken on the matter.

James Still was appointed as Night Watchman and the License and Police Committee instructed to order a punch clock for his use.

A relief application and an old age pension were passed on and the reports were read. After the reading of the payroll and a motion that it be paid, the meeting adjourned at 12:10.

VALENTINES

Fashions come and go, but one oldfashion, that of sending valentines on February 14, never dies out. The eternal mystery and attraction of sex never changes with the fads of the moment.

Back in ancient history, names of young men and women were put in boxes. Anyone desiring the companionship of the other sex could draw out a name and the people thus chosen by chance were supposed to keep company for a year.

Countless lovers used to address sugary misives, all dolled up with pictures of hearts and cupid, to fair maidens, and tremble with fear to see how the adored one took it. She was not commonly offended. Today valentines are a pretty way of showing sentimental interest, without meaning so much by it.

The young lady does not expect an immediate call to the minister's, merely because she obtains a nice valentine on February 14.

SMILE, LADIES, SMILE!

A New York plastic surgeon says women who refrain from smiling because they believe it will cause wrinkles are on the wrong track. The stretch given the skin in the process of smiling, he says, actually serves to preserve its elasticity and prevent wrinkles.

Whether there is anything to this theory or not, we are unable to say. But we have no hesitancy whatever in agreeing with the proposition that any woman who refrains from smiling for cosmetic reasons is doing herself, wrinkles or no, a positive disservice.

The object of avoiding wrinkles, we presume, is to maintain as long as possible the semblance of youth. Yet one of the best characteristics of youth, just as much as the possession of a smooth skin, is a smiling countenance. Youth with what is known colloquially but graphically, as a dead pan is not attractive youth and, no matter what your age or skin condition, is not worth having, from a beauty standpoint.

As a matter of fact, we have seen young people—young in years, we mean—whose faces, already marked with laughter wrinkles, were much more attractive than those of their less

ARE YOU SUFFERING LOSSES IN THE FEEDLOT?

Of the large number of lambs which are on feed in southern Alberta each winter there are always a number which never reach the market due to a variety of causes such as losses from digestive disorders and losses caused by diseases. In some cases it is found that an occasional lamb becomes dull and unthrifty and finally dies but in other cases the death losses may assume severe proportions. We are not in a position at the Lethbridge Experimental Station to diagnose sheep diseases, but in view of the fact we had considerable experience in feeding lambs, a few remarks might prove helpful to other feeders and particularly to those who are comparatively new in the business.

At the Experimental Station, the death loss over a 20 year period has been less than one per cent. This is considerably below the usually accepted normal feed lot loss of about two per cent and it is believed to be accounted for by the health and quality of the lambs used, the methods of feeding and the suitability of the rations. There has been no evidence to lead us to believe that the losses in the feedlot at the Experimental Station were due in any large measure to diseases and parasites.

At this stage in the year, it is too late to offer advice as to selecting lambs for feeding and any feeder who is so unfortunate as to have a fairly large proportion of small, unthrifty lambs will undoubtedly be on the alert next fall when it is again time to buy feeders. Also, space does not permit at this time to give a discussion of feeding and management of feeder lambs and we would recommend anyone desiring information in this connection to write this Station.

From findings in abattoirs and from the experience of veterinary surgeons, it appears that there is no real problem of parasitic diseases in the main sheep raising areas of Alberta and although certain internal parasites are found in feeder lambs, it appears that death losses and poor gains cannot be attributed to this cause. Fortunately, the internal parasites which cause most damage in sheep generally, are very rarely found on the prairies. External parasites can never become serious in sheep as long as annual dipping with a reliable dip is practiced.

The diseases which are of mouth and Haemorrhagic Septicemia in this province are sore ticaemia. The former has been previously dealt with in this column. Important preventatives in the case of Haemorrhagic Septicemia are care and rest during shipment and freedom from exposure. Inoculation has yielded rather variable results and if the disease is not directly contagious as held by some U. S. investigators, the value of bacterins or aggressins as a preventative is rather limited. Prevention of the disease by careful feeding and management is important but if large and sudden losses occur the feeder might well suspect Haemorrhagic Septicemia and he would be well advised to get in touch with a veterinary surgeon.

RIGHTS AND DUTIES

Our faith in freedom is based on the belief that every human soul has its own sovereign rights—rights that are not merely granted by society but are an essential of the human character. Since society is nothing apart from the men and women of which it is fashioned it can never ignore this right of freedom without courting its own destruction.

Yet this freedom is not the freedom for men to do as they please. Even in primitive society this freedom is denied and the complex demands of civilization deny it in a thousand ways. When men agree to live together for the sake of work or happiness, they set limits to their behavior and agree to live beneath a code and law.

Yet the right of freedom remains. It is a right not to natural but to spiritual freedom. Its most vital doctrine is that men have the right to think as they please. Man as a member of society has duties rather than rights. As an individual his rights are supreme. The problem of society is to appoint to each man his duties while scrupulously protecting his rights. For is the right of men to think as they please lies the only hope for the endurance and perfection of society.

Mrs. Florence M. Frasers of Stavely, was elected Mayoress of the Town by acclamation on Monday, the first woman Mayoress in Alberta and believed to be the second in the Dominion of Canada.

Peter, when he was Czar, would bring the head of his latest victim to the dinner table and discourse learnedly on the anatomy of the skull. Russia has changed since, but the question is, how much.

Our Edmonton Letter

(T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Feb. 6.—From all the ridings of the Province, legislative members gathered here this week for the opening of the eighth session. In three and a half years, of the eighth legislature of Alberta.

With the opening of the House set for Thursday, these Social Credit members who have not broken ties with Premier William Aberhart—or who have mended broken ties—were assembled two days earlier under orders for a party caucus. Including the newest recruit C. H. Lad, who was elected in Athabasca just before the last special session in November but did not take his seat then.

According to reports 50 bills stand ready, or almost ready, for consideration of the caucus and then of the house. All but a handful, it was explained, consist of amendments to fix up or undo acts passed during previous sessions.

The more important new bills will include one to provide a provincial marketing board, through which the government is planning to go into business. There has been no indication yet as to the source of the large amount of cash which the government would have to put up, since it can well expect, with its record to get much credit from producers, even for a co-operative plan.

Another bill, which may or may not get past the caucus and then may or may not get through the house would provide for redistribution of provincial constituencies, on some plan to be recommended by one of the numerous between-sessions legislative committees.

Legislation to provide for the bonding of lawyers, on the line of a resolution introduced in the house a year ago, also is expected to come up. The Alberta Bar Association has been drawing up plans for operation of some such scheme for itself.

The most important bill so far scheduled, from the point of view of real welfare of this province's citizens, will be a measure to provide for participation of this province's citizens in the Dominion Housing act. F. W. Nicolls, of Ottawa, Dominion director of housing, was in Edmonton last week; he said firstly that only the fear by lenders, of adverse legislation by the Alberta government has given this Province the doubtful distinction of being the only one in Canada which has not benefitted by the Federal legislation; there has not been a single loan advanced here under the Dominion's 1935 act.

Mr. Nicolls told Premier Aberhart that in a conference and, a few hours later, it was made known that the Premier had given assurance that the Provincial government will bring in legislation to exempt loans under the Federal act from past or future debt-slashing.

There has been no hint of new debt-cutting or interest-slashing legislation. There were two developments over the week-end getting down to facts: Ion. W. R. Motherwell, former Federal Minister of Agriculture, declared publicly that most of the farm debt problem has been caused by men having been too eager in the past to use up all the credit they could get, and that realization is spreading now that a dollar should be in hand before it is spent; and the announcement in Edmonton that the Alberta Board of Review, under Federal legislation has reduced the debts of 2,435 farmers from $21,000,000 to $12,000,000.

Alberta's oil production and the Government's moves to inject itself into the picture of private industry got more attention last week. At Calgary, the McGillivray Royal Commission was led through another week by Government counsel; it is supposed to be discovering whether prices could be reduced in the Turner Valley field; but it digressed to make a study of the Illinois fields. At Edmonton, government statisticians made it known that Alberta's oil production, through private investment and initiative attained 6,742,039 barrels last year, which was 98 per cent of the entire Canadian production and 13.8 per cent of the total in the whole empire.

In the face of that record of production—99 per cent of it in Turner Valley—and its publicly-announced policy of seeking reduced prices, the Alberta government last Thursday suspended the licenses of eight retail oil and gasoline firms because it was alleged that they had cut their prices below the "established" rate to large consumers.

By Saturday, four of the licenses had been reinstated after those dealers had promised the government that they would not cut prices any more. One firm announced that it was opening up its place anyway, without a license; an executive of that firm made it known that the government itself, buying in wholesale quantities, has insisted consistently that it be given a one-cent discount, from the regular price on all its purchases.

The consuming public and the members of the legislature will be able to draw their own conclusions on the government's attitude toward price reduction, in view of the suspension of licenses because of price reduction in retail sales.

TAIL END OF WINTER

Every day the sun climbs higher. The North wind sweeps over the land, but we are coming to the end of his reign. The longer days make our hours seem more cheerful. The life of vegetation has had its period of sleep, and on bright and sunny days you can almost hear the first stirrings of nature, anticipating the year of activity to come.

People do not write songs glorifying winter, but the good old summer time and the joys of spring stir the poets to action. But old winter has redeemed its features.

It brings innumerable pleasant social occasions, and countless fireside gatherings where friends and neighbors exchange their ideas and engage in merry sport. The true philosopher says that whatever season he is passing through is always the best one.

The mercury stood at 34 below Wednesday morning just about sun-up and at the same time Thursday morning it was 44 below. Boy, it sure felt it too, and worse.

! ! ! ! ! We heard this short, short story the other day: "Scotty meets Woolf, Woolf meets train on time and walks back." With you we will have to guess the rest, or ask about it?

The Union Jacks, six in number motored to Browning Sunday for an exhibition game with the Browning Indians and were defeated three points by a 37-34 score in a fast and clean game. On the way home Donny broke the steering rod on his car and the team had to wait just the other side of Del Bonita for a car to go from here to get them. Lucky for the boys it wasn't as cold then as it has been since.

RESOURCEFULNESS

Most people form certain habits of doing their work, and they keep on with their old habits, even if these ways of doing things are wasteful of time and money. It never occurs to them to think up some new way of meeting their difficulties. If anything goes wrong in their occupations or their homes, they can't think up any way of remedying that difficulty. Frequently they have to call in somebody and have the trouble cured at considerable expense.

The old timer pioneer was not so helpless. Without modern improvements, he could not telephone to some specialist and have everything fixed or him. He learned to fix things himself. People can do a lot of things for themselves if they exercise a little brain power.

Scientists know almost everything now except why a winter wind howls around the house and a summer wind does not howl.

A bishop thinks hard times strengthen us morally and the actuaries say they are a tonic physically. Taking the long view, the depression was a success.

DIGGING GRAVES

Dr. Ralph P. Barker, a Pennsylvania physician, figures that the average person of 50 has eaten more than 50 tons of surplus food. He feels that one of the greatest faults of our people is that they eat too much. Which reminds one of the old saying, that people dig their graves with their teeth.

Our country has produced so many good cooks, and so much good food is offered in home and restaurants, that it is no wonder that people are tempted to keep digging away. Some day they will learn greater self-control. There is little satisfaction in pleasing the sense of taste, which lasts but a few minutes if it has added weaknesses to your body that shorten your life.

Sport Ramblings Of Town And District

(By Rex P. Ehler)

Our boxers put up a very good showing in the finals at Calgary on the first three days of this week. Bobby Lafferty won his first fight and advanced to the finals, but his opponent from Innisfail was given the nod by a narrow margin. In the 135 lb. class, Shigero put up a good fight, but was defeated in the first bout. Tillack of Stirling, who has been training here this winter won his first fight, was given a bye in the second and was defeated in the third. We understand that this was a very unpopular decision with the fans. In the finals in the 160 lb. class, Adamson of Stirling was also defeated. The Cardston fighters won out in the 90 lbs., 100 lbs., 118 lbs. and in the light-heavyweight classes. Lethbridge fighters won in the 80 lbs. and 135 lbs. classes, and all of the rest went farther north.

The High School league will be practically finished tonight. The Magrath quint is travelling to Cardston to tangle with the second place team there. That will be the last games for those two teams until the third team is decided. If Magrath wins they will enjoy a layoff for three or four weeks.

Coming back home, the R. H. School team have played four league games and lost them all. They have yet two more to play both with Lethbridge. If the L. C. I. beats them tonight they are definitely out. But if the Comets win tonight, and defeat Lethbridge again next Friday in the city, then those two teams will be tied and will have to play off for the right to meet the second team. 'It might sound rather hopeless for the locals, but here's hoping that they can at least defeat Lethbridge 3 times even if they can go no further.

The league standing now is:

	P	W	L	Pts.
Magrath	5	4	1	8
Cardston	5	3	2	6
Lethbridge	4	2	2	4
Raymond	4	0	4	0

Next games—Tonight: L. C. I. at Raymond, and Magrath at Cardston. Next Friday Raymond at Lethbridge.

Anyone that was at the Idlers game on Wednesday can possibly tell why it is that the Idlers are losing their games and the Magrath quint are winning. For one thing we noticed that the visitors were about the fightingest bunch of players next to the Magrath High School that we have ever seen. They seem to be so used to clinging on to their opponents arms that it is quite natural for them, and when called for it by the referees, they show great surprise. Another thing that the fans probably noticed was that while the Idlers were dishing out as rough treatment as they were receiving, they played even with the Garden City boys. Not that the locals didn't rough it up enough in the final quarter, but their ball handling was nothing like it was in the first half. They seemed to have no teamwork at all. We are not accusing any of them of trying to play "self," but they just didn't seem to know how to work it around. Magrath showed beautiful team

LENTEN THOUGHTS

The fundamental thought of the cure season of Lent would seem to be that people should repent of their sins. The modern world does not like the word "sin." But nothing is more evident than that the world is full of offenses against God and man. People trample on the weak, they abuse the bodies that God has given them, they are dishonest and crooked.

Man has grown no wings as yet. Whether or not he conforms to the Lenten custom, it will do him no harm to take little time and review his life. He will find plenty of things of which he should repent, and he will be happier if he does.

There has been an improvement in Herr Hitler's insomnia. True, he sometimes goes the night without sleeping, but the nights are shorter.

work at times, and if they are as successful to get their opponents disorganized in future games as they did the Idlers, Alberta is going to see new senior basketball champions this year.

	P	W	L	Pts.

Union Jacks	2	1	1	2
Idlers	3	1	2	2
Cardston	3	0	3	0

SPRING IN BUSINESS

In the spring season, more people go to work on farms and construction jobs, more is paid out in wages, people are able to buy more, and business becomes more active.

We are now close to the time of year when these things happen. People should get ready for them. They should look forward with hope and energy to new opportunities, they should for new happiness and new business, put in better licks at their trade, advertise goods.

If we all take hold with a will, we shall accelerate this spring rise in business.

The ice harvest has been on the past two weeks and a good supply of very good looking ice has been put up.
